

Environmental News for Kalaupapa

Barge Day is September 11th

Barge day has been postponed until September 11th 2010. This is a major inconvenience to everyone, however, it allows us one last opportunity to collect anything to be sent out this year. The Kalaupapa recycling center will continue to accept any of the following materials.

Old Appliances

If you have an old appliance that you want to ship out this year you can leave it on the curb in front of your house. We will pick it up on Monday or Thursday.

Batteries

The Kalaupapa recycling center is still collecting batteries of any kind. If you have any batteries such as old car batteries or appliance batteries you can leave them on the curb in front of your house and we will pick them up Monday or Thursday

Old Clothes

With the help of Claire, we have a crate of old clothes that we have been compiling to donate to the salvation army. Simply put any clothes that you want to donate in a trash bag and leave them on the curb in front of your house. We will pick them up on Monday or Thursday

The last day for Appliance, Battery or Clothes pick up is September 8th

Kalaupapa Landfill is Closing

Please remember to separate your recyclables and your food waste

Please remember that we are now compacting all trash. If recyclables or food waste are mixed in with your trash then you trash could potentially be dangerous. We thank you for your continued efforts. With your support we can continue to keep Kalaupapa beautiful.

If you need any containers for your recyclables

If you need any help or information about recycling

Please talk to Simon Mahalo